

The Interview Script (20-Minute Master List)

Introduction (2 Minutes)

"I'm working on a project to make it easier for people your age to find cool stuff to do offline. I'm not a teacher or a parent, I just want to understand how you actually spend your time. There are no right or wrong answers, and I'm looking for total honesty."

1. How often do you spend time outside with your parents?

Very rarely since both of my parents working

Once they tried to spend time more with me and my brother walking in the parks, we were jogging all together. They wanted that people can hangout together not only playing mobile games. But we are not going out with them anymore since they are busy

2. Walk me through your typical Tuesday after school. From the moment you get home to when you go to bed, what does that look like?

Usually, after school I like to come home and scroll social media, then I have lunch. After lunch I go to tennis 3 times a week and English on other days.

For me, after school I am very tired and I need to do homework. But before doing homework I like just laying on my bed and scrolling my phone, for example, TikTok. Then I realize that I spent too much time on my phone but it is very hard to control time and scrolling phone is more interesting than studying

3. When was the last time your parents/guardians annoyed you about your phone or computer? What exactly did they say?

Most of the time.

All the time, especially my mom says that she will glue phone to my head because I wake up with my phone and sleep with it

4. The Perception: Do you feel like they have a point, or are they just out of touch with how your social life works?

Maybe, they have a point. It is hard to explain to adults why we use phones so much. All of my peers use social media and our life is connected with the internet.

It is very hard to say, but they are not wrong. Sometimes I can't count how many hours I lay on my bed and waste half of my day on it. I can't concentrate on the lessons and with my friends instead of talking we send each other reels/videos from TikTok

5. The Parental Hypocrisy: Do you ever feel like your parents spend just as much time on their phones while they're telling you to get off yours? Sometimes I notice that. In my childhood they rarely used phones, but now they use more. But still, I think we, the younger generation, use phones much more than adults. Most of the time my parents are at work so I do not know if they use their phones so much but at home when they arrive, they use their phones. But I think that they use their phones less than me because they are just not used to it as much as me.

6. If your phone or the internet died for 48 hours, what's the first thing you'd do to kill time?

I would walk in the parks, hang out with my friends, do some activities with my close friends, and also going to nature/beach is a good idea.

It is hard to think about it, maybe I would play football or start reading books.

7. Do you ever feel like you're on your phone just because you're bored, rather than because you actually want to be?

Yes, I sometimes use my phone when I am bored.

Maybe when I am bored, but I feel like a phone is glued to my hands

8. Do you feel like you have to stay online to keep up with friends, or would you be okay missing out for a night?

Yes, because all of my friends, and everyone at school uses phones and all the news is there.

Yes, if I want to know all trends, I should have social media and my friends send funny videos there and without social media we have nothing to talk about

1. The Failed Plan: When was the last time you wanted to do something outside the house, but it didn't happen? What stopped it?

I always want to hang out with friends but all the time some of them cancel our plans at the last minute. Also, I want to play some sports together, but only a few of my friends like that sport.

I wanted to play football, but my friends are always busy.

2. The Default: Where is the "default" spot people go when they want to hang out? Why there?

Usually we go to the shopping malls or coffeeshops.

With friends we meet near school or the football field.

3. The Leadership: Who is usually the "leader" in your friend group who makes the plans? If they don't suggest something, does nothing happen?

I like to suggest some activities, sometimes my friends suggest, but we rarely agree on one thing, because everyone has his own taste and vision on what to do.

Depending on the activity, if it is sports, I suggest other kinds, my friends can suggest. If they don't suggest and I don't have anything on my mind, we don't meet.

4. The Discovery: If you wanted to find a new hobby or a local event (concert, pickup game) outside of school, where would you even look?

I would ask my friends or try to find them on social media.

Maybe I will ask my friends or classmates.

5. The Barrier: What's a bigger problem for you: not knowing what to do, or not having a way to get there (transportation)?

I think, not knowing what to do.

Not knowing what to do, for my friends and me, we lose much time deciding where to go and what to do on the weekends.

6. The Effort: If you wanted to get 5 friends together for something this Saturday, how much effort/stress would that take?

It is very stressful, because all the time someone cancels the plan or someone does not want to.

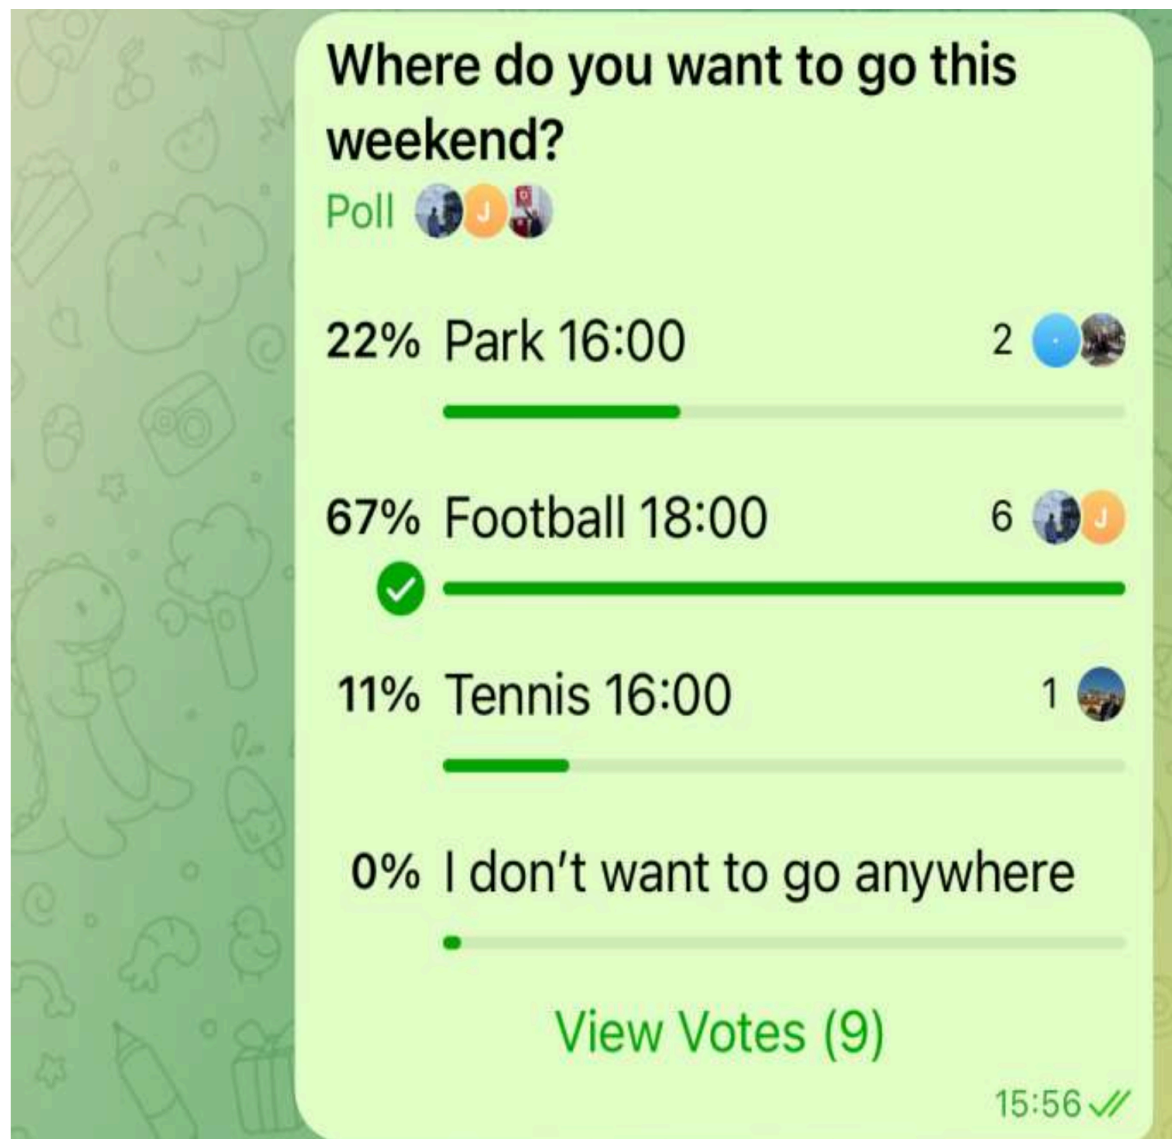

It is hard, everyone is busy these days and people just don't have interest.

7. The Curation: Have you ever seen an ad for a local event and thought "that looks cool," but then didn't go? Why not?

I forgot about it or do not have anyone who would go with me .

Yes, a lot, my friends cancel our plans at the last minute or it's too far.
